CAA OK's new plan

by Audrey Dumentat

The Council on Academic Affairs approved a policy Thursday which could make it possible for instructors to use class attendance as a factor in determining students' grades beginning fall semester 1983.

However, the proposal must be approved by Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives and Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin.

Under the attendance policy approved by the CAA, instructors who wish to use attendance as a basis in determining grades would need written departmental approval.

In addition, instructors wishing to use attendance in figuring grades would have to indicate their reason to students on the first class day.

CAA Chairman David Buchanan said each department will decide individually how to handle requests by instructors.

CAA attendance subcommittee Chairman Sharon Bartling said the new attendance policy is structured "to aid students by making the policy very clear."

The proposal also is designed "to protect students from any false security that the current policy may give them," Bartling added.

Bartling said the current policy gave students a false security because instructors could use attendance indirectly in determining final grades by considering class participation.

Eastern's current attendance policy states that "the instructor will not use the mere fact of absence as a factor in determining a final course grade since such evaluations are based on achievement and are expected to measure learning—not attendance."

In other business, the CAA voted to allow three arts and sciences courses to be offered at Eastern's off-campus locations during the academic year.

The courses include Arts and Sciences 3103, "Humanities;" Arts and Sciences 3203, "Social Sciences;" and Arts and Sciences 3303, "Mathematics."

In 1974, the CAA decided that these courses would be offered only during summer term intersession.

Since these courses can fulfill distribution requirements while also counting as upper-division credit, they will greatly benefit students enrolled in Eastern's off-campus programs, Larry Williams, graduate school and extended degree programs dean, said.

Although these students normally enter Eastern's off-campus programs as juniors or seniors, most of them still need general education courses and upper-division credit in order to graduate, Williams added.

The CAA also approved a new course, Industrial Technology 4943, "Manufacturing Management."

The course is intended to replace Management 3950, "Operations Management" for industrial technology majors, School of Technology Dean Donald Lauda said.

Since the course has been customized to fit industrial technology majors, it will more adequately meet their specialized requirements.

Local stores remove Tylenol capsules

by Erin Powers

Local stores removed bottles of Extra-Strength Tylenol from their shelves Thursday after media reports indicated several people had died in the Chicago area from ingesting cyanide-contaminated capsules.

A total of seven lives have been claimed by cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules since Wednesday.

According to Associated Press reports, Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner said evidence indicates that a single person "went around the Chicago area salting store shelves with one bottle of Tylenol at a time."

"It is the act of a random murderer who filled the capsules with cyanide and then placed them in the stores," Fahner said.

Fahner is heading up a task force of approximately 75 investigators from local, state and federal agencies, including the FBI, according to AP reports. The task force will attempt to discover the source of the contamination.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has urged consumers nationwide to discontinue use of Extra-Strength Tylenol for the time being, AP reports said.

Johnson and Johnson is offering a $100,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the person responsible for contaminating the capsules.

Janet Smith, office employee at Charleston's IGA, said employees removed the product from the store's shelves Thursday after reports of the Tylenol-related deaths were released by the media.

"The (Coles County) Department of Health called us later Thursday and asked us to remove Extra-Strength Tylenol from our shelves," Smith added.

Greg Boyer of Family Pharmacy said, "We intend to keep Extra-Strength Tylenol off our shelves until it is proved to be a Chicago-area problem or the danger has passed."

A spokesman for Osco Drugs said, "We removed Extra-Strength Tylenol from the shelves when the whole thing started."

A Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center spokesman said there have been no patients admitted to the hospital in connection with contaminated Tylenol.

In addition, the hospital has received few calls since the reports surfaced last week. However, several people have inquired about the safety of other Tylenol products.

Blood drive surpasses goal by 35 pints

by Dana Eastridge

Eastern's annual fall blood drive exceeded its goal of 1,735 pints by 35 pints, general chairman May Pionek said Thursday.

She said 392 pints were collected Thursday, the last day of the drive. Although 440 people tried to donate blood, 48 were turned away due to low iron counts or other problems, she added.

The 392 pints brought the total amount of blood collected during the four-day drive last week to 1,770 pints, Pionek said.

On Monday, 433 pints were collected, 527 pints were drawn on Tuesday and 418 pints were collected Wednesday.

"We really broke our goal. I'm extremely happy," Pionek said.

"I want to say thank you to all the volunteers, all the donors and everyone who had anything to do with the drive. We broke the goal and that's fantastic."

She added there were no problems during the drive.

"We had a few people faint, but it wasn't anything serious," she said.

Several Red Cross nurses who helped with the drive agreed with Pionek.

"I really think it went beautifully," nurse Bernice Simmon said.

Nurses' supervisor Jean Lugge said, "Things went super. It goes much better when we come to a site where people expect us. Everybody was well-prepared."

This fall's drive was more successful than last fall's, which collected 1,633 pints, 92 pints short of its goal of 1,725.

However, this fall's drive failed to exceed the record of 1,792 pints donated last spring. The goal for last spring was 1,790 pints.

The previous record was 1,727 pints collected in spring 1980.

News Round-up

Falkland widows receive support

LONDON—Thirteen British women widowed by the Falkland Islands war have delivered babies and each will get $17,000 from the South Atlantic fund, a private charity that has collected $22.1 million, the Sunday Telegraph reported.

Britain lost 255 men in the 74-day war to recapture the remote South Atlantic island following Argentina's invasion Apr. 2. Argentina lost 712 men, 368 of them in the sinking of the cruiser General Belgrane.

Pope: 'Humanity is in danger!'

VATICAN CITY—Pope John Paul II on Sunday said humanity and Earth are in danger because of man's treatment of his environment. Speaking on the eve of the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the pontiff told 45,000 people in St. Peter's square:

"The future of humanity and planet Earth are in danger because of the deterioration of the relationship between man and environment, as well as of the relations between men, classes and nations."

Possible break in high gas bills

WASHINGTON—Americans beleaguered by skyrocketing natural gas bills may be getting a respite, courtesy of the agency that is usually cast as the villain responsible for the escalating costs.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the target of consumer groups criticizing huge price hikes, has warned pipeline companies that increases may not be tolerated in the future.

The commission has said it will begin considering whether the price a pipeline pays for its natural gas is so high that it is driving industrial customers off the system.

Finalists play on gigantic board

MILWAUKEE—It was the fantasy of a lifetime for Pac-Man lovers playing the video game on a gigantic board.

Eight Pac-Man finalists who won preliminary contests in August on regular video games played their finalists Saturday at Milwaukee's County Stadium and its huge electronic scoreboard.

It was billed as "The Worlds Largest Pac-Man Tournament."

Anthony Silene, 14, of Mequon, Wis., emerged as the master, racking up 79,110 points.

Chief says he's innocent of bribe

CHICAGO—On the eve of his trial on charges of conspiring to bribe a U.S. senator, Teamsters Union President Roy L. Williams insists he is innocent and expressed contempt for reporters and Justice Department officials.

Williams, 66, goes on trial with four co-defendants Monday in U.S. District Court.

Much of the government's case is built around evidence gathered during months of electronic surveillance that has been put under court seal until the trial. Attempts by several news organizations to get the seal until the trial, but not before.

Police have links to poisonings

CHICAGO (AP)—The killer who put cyanide in Extra-Strength Tylenol bottles used a form of the poison available in school chemistry labs and metal plants, an official said Sunday as chemists and detectives searched for clues to the poisoning of seven people.

Police said they had several leads in the investigation, including a shoplifter arrested in late August for stealing Tylenol and reports of suspicious customers at stores where the poison was found on shelves. Police artists were sent out to interview employees.

Two police officers who picked up what are believed to have been Tylenol capsules in a parking lot became ill the next day, and authorities were running tests on the pills to see if they were contaminated by cyanide.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, who is leading a task force of 75 investigators, said Sunday that authorities believe the poisoned capsules were placed on shelves "probable the day before" the first three deaths were reported Wednesday.

"It is an act of a random murderer who filled the capsules with cyanide and then placed them in the stores," said Fahner, who is heading a task force of some 75 investigators from 15 state, federal and local agencies including the FBI. Forty-three state chemists were working around-the-clock in the investigation.

Fahner said evidence indicates a single person "went around the Chicago area salting the store shelves with one bottle of contaminated Tylenol at a time." The stores were as much as 40 miles apart in the northern part of Chicago.

Police also said Sunday that a fourth batch number of the capsules was involved in the deaths. A woman who died in Winfield, a western suburb of Chicago, had capsules from lot MB1833. There was initial confusion over the batch number in that case because she apparently mixed Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules with regular Tylenol.

The first two batches implicated, lots MC288 and 1910MD, were recalled nationwide by the manufacturer, McNeil Consumer Products Co., a subsidiary of Johnson & Johnson.

The last known victim, 35-year-old flight attendant Paula Prince, was found dead Friday night in her Chicago apartment.

Gunmen attack Israeli troop bus

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Gunmen ambushed an Israeli troop bus Sunday near a mountain village, and an Israeli army spokesman said there were casualties. Lebanese news media said the attackers used rocket-propelled grenades and automatic rifles.

In Beirut, Lebanese newspapers reported that President Amin Gemayel wants to form an interim Cabinet, headed by Lebanon's security chief and including other military men, that would have wide powers to impose law and order.

Several dailies quoted official sources as saying Gemayel would announce his choice for prime minister by Monday.

U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib was reported to have left Syria to continue his mission to secure withdrawal of all foreign troops from Lebanon. Israeli Foreign minister Yitzhak Shamir said in New York that Habib told him the armies would leave "by the end of this year."

The highest Christian "Voice of Lebanon" radio station said an unknown number of Israeli troops were killed or wounded in the attack near Aley, a Moslem-populated town on the Beirut-Damascus highway about 10 miles southeast of the capital.

Sudan ready to send aid to Iraq

SUDAN (AP)—Sudan announced that it is prepared to send troops to aid Iraq against Iran's latest offense in the 2-year-old Persian gulf war. Arabia warned Iran faces a "no holds barred" war with the entire Arab world if it does not respond to mediation efforts.

Radio Baghdad claimed Sunday that Iraqi forces repulsed a third Iranian attack into Iraq in as many days while Iraqi warplanes made "direct and very effective hits" against Iranian positions.

The broadcast said Iranian units tried to cross into Iraq near the Iranian city of Sumar, about 100 miles east of the Iraqi capital city.

"Our forces intercepted the enemy and after fierce fighting that lasted two hours he was forced to retreat, suffering very heavy losses in human lives and equipment," the broadcast said.

Tehran radio, however, claimed "guerrilla groups" backed by artillery had "penetrated enemy territory" Sunday, killing 100 Iraqis and wounding 150 others. The broadcast said two Iraqi vehicles, three tanks and five large ammunition dumps were destroyed.

The attacker was the third since Iran announced last Friday that a "lightning" offensive had recaptured 60 square miles of Iranian territory along with high ground overlooking the Iraq border town of Mandali. Iraq denied the loss of ground, and said the Iranian offensive was repulsed.

The war began in September, 1980, when Iraq invaded Iran across the Shatt-al-Arab estuary, Iraq's only outlet to the Persian Gulf and part of the southern border between the two nations.

Activities for Homecoming week slated

by Dana Eastridge
A parade, bonfire and queen coronation are scheduled to highlight Homecoming week this year, a University Board spokesman said Thursday. Events will begin Monday with voting for Homecoming queen in the east half of the Union Ballroom between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. To vote, students must present their student IDs, UB Homecoming committee coordinator Tina O'Keefe said. Queen candidates and their sponsors include Cindy Feltz (Panhellenic Council), Lajoicye Hunter (Black Student Union), Leslie Garrigan (Carman Hall), Angie Oppe (North Quad), Natalie Scott (Holiday Inn/East Hall), Bonnie Gooch (South Quad) and Laurie Blanford (Phi Gamma Nu). Freshman attendant will be voted for at the same time. Candidates and sponsors include Amy Bielfeldt (Alpha Phi), Susan Board (Alpha Sigma Alpha), Ann Bonomo (North Quad), Jennine Buishas (South Quad), Tammi

Cizowski (Holiday Inn/East Hall), Charmaine Carrethers (Black Student Union), Jayna Freeland (Delta Zeta) and Lynne Marchand (Carman Hall). The coronation will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union Grand Ballroom. The Wide Spread Jazz Orchestra is scheduled to perform and admission is 50 cents, O'Keefe added. A Walt Disney song contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Grand Ballroom. Anyone interested in entering can register in the Student Activities Office located on the second floor of the Union addition, O'Keefe said. Activities continue Wednesday and Thursday with the Walt Disney film "The Aristocats" in the Union Ballroom. The film will be shown at 7 p.m. and admission is $1.25, O'Keefe said. Another film, "Continental Divide," starring John Belushi, will be shown at 6:30 and 9 p.m. Friday in the Grand Ballroom. A special admission price of $1 will be charged, she added. A pep rally and bonfire is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday on the Lawson-Taylor hall tennis courts, O'Keefe said. Organizations who wish to perform cheers should be present at 7:45 p.m. The Homecoming parade will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and trophies for winners of the week's events will be presented at halftime of the football game, she added. An overall spirit trophy will be presented to the organization that has accumulated the highest number of points during the week. Several trophies will be given to the best parade floats, O'Keefe said. She added a Homecoming booklet will be available with information about this year's events and previous Homecomings. Students living in residence halls may pick up the booklets in their halls and off-campus residents may pick up copies in the Student Activities Office.

Street opened

Ninth Street, from Hayes Avenue south to Taft Avenue, was opened to traffic Friday. Construction on Ninth Street, which began in April, was expected to be completed by the beginning of Eastern's fall semester. However, weather conditions delayed the completion of the project in time for the return of Eastern's students. The project included widening Ninth Street to 31 feet and installing storm sewers, curbs and sidewalks with ramps for the handicapped.

Union official collapses, dies

Herman Roe Haddock, manager of the Union Bookstore, died Friday night after collapsing at a Charleston High School football game. Haddock, 51, was transported by Charleston ambulance to Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center. Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch said Haddock was pronounced dead of a heart attack on arrival at the hospital at 9:18 p.m. Haddock, who managed the Union Bookstore for 12 years, is survived by his wife Norma, operator of Norma's Original Steak House in Charleston, and three sons and a daughter: David of Champaign, Gary, Mike and Mrs. Keith (Pam) Furry of Charleston. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Harper-Swickard Funeral Home chapel. Friends may call the funeral home between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

'Doc' to entertain at Parents' Weekend

by Terry Moore
Doc Severinsen and his band "Xytron" will be featured at the annual Parents' Weekend scheduled for Nov. 12-14, University Board Chairman Steven Jones said Wednesday. Parents of all registered students soon will be receiving order forms through the mail for tickets to the Severinsen concert and other activities scheduled for the weekend, Jones said. Weekend activities will begin with a theater department production of "The Best of Broadway" at 8 p.m. Nov. 12 in Dvorak Concert Hall in the Fine Arts Building. Tickets are $3.50 per person. Students and their parents will be able to purchase box lunches from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Union Vending Lounge for $3.50 each, Jones added. ## No casualties, screams in blood drive

Eastern student, faculty and staff blood donors all deserve a big round of applause for helping the Red Cross exceed its goal in this fall's blood drive.

The goal of 1,735 pints was surpassed by 35 pints in the four-day drive last week.

A note of congratulations and thanks should also go to all the people who volunteered their services to make the blood drive a successful one. While it may seem that these volunteers are on "the right side of the needle" and that donors do all of the hard work, the project could not have been completed without them.

With a pint of blood drawn from each person, the numbers show that 1,770 people took time in between their jobs, classes, homework and social lives to drop in at the Union Ballroom and roll up their sleeves for about 45 minutes. Approximately 200 more people tried to donate but had to be rejected by nurses because of low iron counts or high temperatures.

But what about the other 8,500 students, faculty and staff who did not give blood?

It is probably a safe bet to say that the majority of donors had to take some time to get their courage up before they made that trek across campus to throw themselves at the mercy of the women with the needles and little plastic bags.

Some people may have even been more afraid than they would admit. But the important thing is they swallowed that fear, probably because they realized their blood would be put to a good use.

Editorial

When the thought of giving blood causes that first tinge of fear, rationalists might say, "Why should I give blood? Someone else will."

In a sense, that rationalist is right: 1,770 other people did. The figures show that only 18 percent of Eastern's students donated during the drive. While 1,770 pints of blood is no drop in the bucket, it is not enough to meet the needs of hospitals in Missouri and Illinois, even when combined with other donations.

Potential donors who gave in to their fears or excuses during the fall blood drive should take a minute to think about all the people who did donate blood. There were no casualties during this year's drive. No screams were heard coming from the Union Ballroom on any of the four days.

If you did not give blood last week for any reason other than because you were medically unable to do so, talk to some people who did. Ask them if it was really such a horrible experience. You will probably find that the experience left them feeling really good about themselves.

But if you couldn't go through with it this time, don't despair. You have four months to convince yourself you can give blood during the spring blood drive, scheduled Feb. 22-25.

Your turn

Backs attendance plan

Editor:

While your position on attendance revision (Sept. 29) has some merit relative to the attendance of students in lecture classes, I believe that you need some additional information and another point of view.

This semester, I am teaching two senior level methods classes which require practicum experiences for the students. I, as well as my colleagues, have worked diligently to establish practicum sites in the public schools that will provide worthwhile experiences for the Eastern students and which will also benefit the children whom they teach.

Our ability to utilize these sites is highly dependent on our performance and attendance. If even one student chooses not to attend, that site could be lost to all of us.

If the student remains enrolled in the class, I cannot penalize him/her for non-attendance. While I can establish criteria for evaluation of performance in the practicum setting, which theoretically should work against the student who is not in attendance, there is no way that I, as one individual with 15 Eastern students, each working with two to five students, can fairly evaluate each of them every day. So, the only protection I have for all students, who participate in courses with practica, is the hope that an attendance policy which would allow me to justify to my colleagues that I need to require attendance will be approved.

Should all students have a practicum site lost to them because one student chooses not to attend? I think not. Perhaps you should re-evaluate your editorial position in light of the university at large, not just from those aspects that are based on lecture courses.

The money that students pay (tuition) to attend classes is nowhere near the cost of offering those classes. I suggest you analyze the taxpayers contribution.

Setting spoiled ballet

Editor:

Concerning the Metropolitan Ballet on September 29: we were very disappointed to see that such an exquisite performance was placed in such surroundings that the audience could not appreciate the full impact of the performance—let alone enhance the atmosphere the Company was trying to create.

We considered McAfee Gymnasium not only a distraction to the performance but also insulting to the Company, their ability and the audience.

We suggest on future engagements to schedule them in a more complimentary atmosphere such as Dvorak Hall.

There's no place like home—or is there?

"He came from college just the other day, so much like a man I just had to say, 'Son I'm proud of you can you sit for awhile?' But he shook his head and he said with a smile, 'What I'd really like Dad, is to borrow the car keys. See you later. Can I have them please?'"

—Harry Chapin's "Cat's in the Hat's."

Home is where the heart is.

Many Eastern students probably spent the long fall break weekend at home.

Going home is something college students tend to look forward to for days and even weeks because home becomes a special place when it is far away.

Before we set out for home, we yearn for the serenity of our own bedrooms—normal-sized rooms, not residence hall cubicles.

We crave the delicacy of a square meal cooked with mom's secret ingredient of tender, loving care.

We daydream about seeing old high school buddies and boy or girlfriends we regretfully left behind when we trekked off to college.

Personal file:

Madeleine Doubek

But more importantly we look forward to a weekend of good old rest and relaxation.

We imagine a weekend free of cramming for upcoming tests, crowded bars and warm beer. For many students a weekend home is considered a time to retreat from frazzled college life.

Going home is an image we conjure up in our mind's eye. It is an image of pure enjoyment.

But we can never go home again. Home, the treasury of our childhood experiences and memories, has changed.

The TV room has been redecorated and tacky plastic sheets cover the carpeting. The bedroom has either been claimed by a brother or sister or has become a cold barren place with nothing on the walls.

Going home can cause more tension than it relieves. It is often a tiring and frustrating experience.

Okay college student, you have exactly 72 hours to visit your family, go grocery shopping, party with old high school buddies, talk with your boy or girlfriend, and please do not forget to eat, sleep and go to the bathroom. Ready, set, go!

Be it ever so hectic, there's no place like home.

Home changes, and the changes may be a jolt to our system. But we must realize that we too are changing—and change is something we must learn to accept—even if it hurts.

Being home may be a tiring experience and not the grand illusion we sometimes chalk it up to be, but, as Dorothy from the Wizard of Oz would say, "There's no place like home; there's no place like home; there's no place like home."

—Madeleine Doubek is administration editor for The Daily Eastern News.

Mid-American default leads to area theater closings

The sign at the Will Rogers Theater briefly explains the reason for the closing of Charleston's only movie theater. The Time Theater in Mattoon, also owned by the Mid-American Theater chain, closed Thursday as well. (News photo by Fred Zwicky)

by Matthew Krasnowski

Will Rogers Theater, 705 Monroe Ave., closed last Thursday but will reopen in the near future, Manager Jim Reavy said.

The theater was one of many scattered about the Midwest, including Mattoon's Time Theater, which closed as a result of a default by the Mid-American Theater chain.

Mid-American, a company based in Wakenney, Kan., leased the theaters from Frisina Enterprises one year ago.

Elizabeth Beaman, bookkeeper for Frisina Enterprise, said Mid-American defaulted last week, causing the chain of the theaters to close their doors, including the Charleston and Mattoon theaters leased by the company.

Frisina owner Rose Marie Bell said, "The rights to the theaters were never formally handed to Mid-American."

Because Mid-American defaulted, the rights to the theaters immediately reverted to Frisina, Beaman said.

"Frisina will try to sell the theaters but will try to reopen them as soon as possible also," Beaman added.

Craig Stout, owner of Mid-American, refused to comment.

Reavy said he is uncertain why Mid-American defaulted.

"Mid-American did a good job of getting us films as fast as possible and they usually skipped the bum films," Reavy said.

"Attendance at the Will Rogers last month was the best it has been in three years," Reavy added.

Reavy said he was not informed that the theater was going to close until the "last minute."

Ken Billups, lawyer for Mid-American theaters, said the theater chain was organizing and considering selling but was unsure to whom.

Circle K sponsors pen pal club

by Terri Sternau

The Circle K Club, a community service organization, is urging Eastern students to "be a friend and reach out and touch someone" through a proposed Pen Pal Club between students and Charleston nursing home residents.

Project coordinator Beth Surik, social chairman of the Circle K Club, said she hopes not only to perform a worthwhile community service through the Pen Pal Club, but also to give students and nursing home residents an opportunity to develop a personal friendship.

"This is a completely new approach to student-community relations," Surik said. "The nursing homes' administrations are all for the idea."

Surik said letters will be exchanged with residents at Charleston Manor, Hilltop Nursing Center and Brookings Place, formerly Fontanbleu Nursing Center, all located in Charleston.

Interested students can contact Surik by calling 581-3937 or writing to 302 Lawson Hall.

COMPUCON 82: Computer conference—educational, interesting

by John Best

More than 250 people filled hallways, lecture rooms and both ballrooms of the University Union as COMPUCON '82 got underway Friday.

COMPUCON, a conference featuring a variety of events related to the computer industry and computer-assisted instruction, was held at Eastern for the first time this year and is planned as an annual event.

The conference was sponsored by Eastern's computer services, the math department and other departments in conjunction with Creative Programming, Inc., in Charleston.

Most of the people attending said they found the conference educational and interesting.

Charles Bertram, from Indiana State University, Bloomington, Ind., said, "It was a very good conference. I'm mainly here to find out what's going on in the world of computer education."

"This has just got to be an excellent opportunity for teachers," Eastern math instructor Nancy VanCleave said. "I learned quite a bit."

Director of Creative Programming Henry Taitt opened the conference with a welcoming address.

Taitt said the future of microcomputers is very exciting and highly sophisticated experiments are being conducted in several fields.

As an example of the possible applications, Taitt said human nerves have been attached to microprocessors in an experiment to aid movement of artificial limbs.

In addition, experiments with blind people have shown that they may be made to "sense" colors through the assistance of microprocessors, he said.

"The six-million-dollar man is not that far away," Taitt said. "However, he won't be powered by a nuclear device and won't be able to run 60 miles per hour."

"Science fiction writers are starting to run out of ideas," he added.

Lectures and computer equipment demonstrations were held on the third floor of the Union, while a children's programming contest that drew 95 participants was held in the Grand Ballroom.

The lectures covered topics and demonstrations ranging from "Microcomputing and the Hearing Impaired" to a demonstration of microcomputer-controlled robots and race cars.

Other than a few complaints about the warm temperatures in the lecture rooms, everyone seemed to enjoy the lectures.

Dale Downs, an elementary education instructor at Eastern, said, "I think it's an excellent place to get some good ideas and a good understanding of the status of microcomputer applications."

Wendall McClusky, a high school instructor from Harrisburg, Ill., said, "All the lectures I've gone to, I've enjoyed. They've been very entertaining."

Eleven vendors from Illinois also demonstrated their products in the Union, although they were not allowed to sell any products during the conference.

Max Gerling, COMPUCON coordinator, said, "I think it was a real success. The people who came really enjoyed it."

Multiply "click tap click click tap tap" by 95, add an occasional "beep" here and there and subtract the talking and giggling to be expected when 95 children are brought together in one room.

The end result will be one similar to the sounds, or lack of them, heard in the Union Grand Ballroom Friday.

Ninety-five children, in grades fourth through 12th, traveled from all over Illinois and surrounding states to participate in the COMPUCON '82 computer programming contest.

Minimal sound was detected during the competition because each participant was so involved in his program that he probably would not have noticed if the terminal next to him had exploded.

Participants were categorized according to their age group and their computer type—color or non-color.

Bill Nottke, 13, of Summit Hill said he had been involved with computers for "a long time—about five years—when my dad bought a TRS 80."

Participants, required to provide their own computer, were judged on their ability to solve graphic and logic problems within a specific time limit.

Howard Smith, director of field testing and training for Computer Programming Inc., said the graphic problems required a participant to program a "painting."

"In its simple stage, the computer must produce a painting, while in its more advanced stages, it's more like a cartoon animation," he said.

In the graphics segment of the contest, participants were required to choose and solve one of nine problems of varying levels of difficulty.

When the allotted 90 minutes had expired, participants took a break and judges circulated the room to rate each program.

The judges are computer programming students enrolled in the upper-level classes offered by Computer Programming Inc.

Fran Edwards, a 17-year-old judge, said she thought the creativity criterion was most important. "Anyone can do logic, but it's creativity you have to look for in a child," she said. "Without it, he can't think for himself."

Another judge, Eric Keiter, 15, said he thought documentation was an important aspect of programming. Documentation is the REM (remark) statements which show how a participant arrived at a solution, he said.

After the graphics judging, participants returned to compete in the logic segment of the contest.

Smith said the logic competition involved using the computer as a "number cruncher." Participants were required to use mathematical applications to solve a given logic problem.

A logic problem example reads as follows: "Get your computer to produce 10,000 random integers between 0 and 9. Have your program keep track of how many of each number was produced and print out a table showing the number and the number of times it occurred. Display a table showing how often each number was followed by a 5. Have your program determine how often 5 came both before and after each number."

Participants were allotted 90 minutes to solve one of nine possible logic problems.

Greg Booth of Eastridge, Ind., a second place winner in the color, grades 10-12 category, said, "I liked the logic part better than the graphics. I'm a better thinker than artist."

The "80 Hackers," a five-member team from Mattoon, won second place in the team category. The members said they found the logic segment more difficult than the graphic.

"Logic programs take too much time. We could have done two or three of the graphic problems" in the allotted time period, one member said after accepting the team trophy.

Places first through fifth were awarded to participants in each of six categories.

Committee begins audits

by Keith Clark

Eastern's clubs and organizations which are funded by student fees are subject to an audit by the Student Senate Auditing Committee, which has begun its schedule of audits for this semester.

"Any group or board which receives student fee money is subject to an audit," Tom Flynn, auditing committee chairman, said.

For example, Flynn said, the committee is beginning its audit of the Publications Board, which is funded by student activity fee money.

Flynn added that this will be the last year for the audit of the Health Service Board because beginning next year, the board will no longer be funded by student activity fees.

Flynn said when the committee begins an audit, members contact the person responsible for the "books" or financial information and informs him that the committee is conducting an audit.

In addition to each group's own set of financial records, Eastern's Business Operations Office also keeps a set of books on each group, Flynn said.

Flynn said the committee also receives any information the group being audited might want to add to its audit information.

For example, if a group's records show a deficit at the time, but money to cover the deficit will be available soon, Flynn said the committee wants that information.

The committee then checks the larger "line items" or separate areas of a budget for any errors, Flynn said.

These line items include expense accounts, such as travel, payroll or office supplies.

Flynn said larger line items are checked because "the more money involved, the more chance there is to mess up."

If the committee has a problem understanding an item in the books or finds something questionable in the books during its audit, the problem is taken to Cathy Moore of the Business Operations Office.

Day to stress fire safety

by Lisa Ciszczon

Local fire stations will sponsor a Fire Prevention Day demonstration Oct. 10 as a follow-up to Fire Prevention Week Oct. 3-9.

The demonstration, which will be held at the Wilb Walker Shopping Center, will include a roof-top rescue by helicopter, fire truck rides, different fire prevention techniques and different forms of fire fighting. Sparky the fire dog and Smokey the Bear will also put in an appearance.

"Our purpose is to bring to mind the importance of fire prevention and at the same time have a little fun doing it," fire fighter Lester Lee said.

The displays are designed to interest and inform both adults and children, Lee added.

Local merchants have taken an active role in Fire Prevention Day by donating fire extinguishers, smoke detectors and first-aid kits that will be given away by random drawings throughout the day. Tom Watson, fire shift captain and ambulance supervisor, said,

"Fire Prevention Week began in 1871," Watson said, "one week after the Chicago Fire and a major forest fire in Minnesota."

"Fire fighters across the nation wanted to make the public aware of how to prevent fires and how to handle emergency situations," he added.

The Charleston Fire Department has two fire stations that provide fire protection and ambulance service, Watson said. The department covers the city limits for fire protection and covers the eastern half of the county.

Decatur defeats ruggers

SPRINGFIELD—Eastern's Rugby Club was ousted from the Union Tournament after dropping its second round game to the Decatur Raiders 19-13 Saturday.

"We haven't been playing well and I don't know why," Eastern faculty adviser Vic Bobb said. "Our penalties hurt us this time."

Both teams used first half penalty kicks to deadlock the contest 6-6 at the half, but it was Decatur which jumped to the first commanding lead after notching a penalty kick and a try in the second half.

Eastern's Dave Lehman retallied with a try moments later to cut the Raiders' lead to 15-10. Eastern scored again when Cliff Kennedy tallied his third penalty kick of the game.

However, Decatur held on to win by scoring a try late in the final half. Eastern will face Decatur at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Lantz Field.

Spikers sweep to victory at Iowa tournament

by Susan McCann

IOWA CITY—After disappointing outcomes at two previous weekend tournaments, Eastern's volleyball squad romped to four victories Friday and Saturday and triumph at the University of Iowa Tournament.

During the last two weekends, the Panthers won only one match at the Saluki Invitational in Carbondale and placed fifth at the Eastern Kentucky Invitational despite winning six of seven matches.

But at Iowa, Panther coach Carol Gruber said her squad dominated the tournament field. The Panther spikers won every game in four matches, taking two-game victories over host Iowa, Western Illinois, DePaul and Wisconsin-Parkside.

"There were a lot of matches that could have gone either way," Gruber said. "But everyone got to see some court time. Being able to do that helps build depth."

With the four weekend triumphs, the spikers extended their winning streak to 11 matches and lifted their record to 19-5.

The Lady Panthers opened the tournament with a 15-11, 15-12 win over Iowa, although Eastern trailed by a 10-0 margin in the second game.

The spikers then fought to a 15-13, 15-13 win over Western Illinois, but once again the Lady Panthers fell far behind—11-0—in the second game of the match.

"I think what happened in both those matches was a combination of factors," Gruber said. In addition to errors by Eastern players, "after the first game the opponent got to know our offense and defense a little better."

But by rallying to win those matches, the Lady Panthers "proved to themselves that it doesn't matter what the score is—they can do it," she added.

When the Panthers fall behind, Gruber said, "what I try to do is calm them down if they're tense. The sport is such that if someone makes a mistake, everyone feels tension."

"It's not like basketball, where everyone (from both teams) is out there together. You're out there with just your own team on one side of the net," she added.

"When someone breaks down, it begins to snowball. That's why it's so important to develop confidence in each other," Gruber said.

After besting Iowa and Western Illinois, the Panthers took the floor to face DePaul. Eastern came away with a fairly easy 15-4, 15-6 victory over a squad that Gruber described as being plagued by injury problems.

In Eastern's final match of the tournament, the spikers downed Parkside by 15-9 and 15-5 scores to sweep the weekend and return home victorious.

"Parkside was the same type of team as us—a guts team," Gruber said. "They won't give you anything. You have to take it from them."

"They were big and scrappy, but in terms of ability, we outshined them," she added.

Warneke paces Panthers

by Rhea Nall

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Despite extremely hot temperatures, Eastern strider Tim Warneke's 24:21 time placed first in the blue division of the Notre Dame Invitational Friday.

The five-mile and 234-runner race was marred when five runners dropped and had to be taken to a hospital's intensive care unit.

The University of Michigan captured the overall team title with 99 points, while Eastern Michigan and Illinois State rounded out the top three teams with 104 and 130 points respectively.

Eastern placed 10th with 242 points, as the Panthers were led by Warneke's title effort and Perry Edinger's 12th place finish. Edinger covered the course in 24:59.

John Gassman was the Panthers' third finisher in placing 68th with a 26:13. Bob Beine finished 74th and Scott Tracey placed 91st to round out Eastern's top finishers.

Warneke did not win the invitational without a struggle. The Panther standout had trailed by 200 yards going into the last mile. Warneke eventually rallied to win by 60 yards.

"Tim (Warneke) and Perry (Edinger) ran outstanding races which should have put us right up there in the running," Eastern head coach Neil Moore said. "However, our problem remains the same—the number three, four and five runners are too far away from our top two runners."

Strider Notes... For Warneke, Saturday's title triumph marked a second national title of the year. The Panther Junior Varsity cross country team finished fourth in the annual Invitational Series. Rick Armstrong was first in Eastern in placing first with a time of 24:21.

Field hockey drops three

by Julie Deetz

ST. LOUIS—Eastern's field hockey team tasted the bitterness of defeat as the Lady Panthers dropped three games at the St. Louis University Invitational this weekend.

Eastern lost to St. Louis 2-0 Friday and fell to the St. Louis Club team 3-2 Saturday. Eastern continued to have its problems in the Panthers' second contest Saturday and eventually loss to Western Illinois 3-2.

Despite the weekend setbacks, Eastern coach Beth Reichel said she felt the St. Louis Club game highlighted the tournament for her squad.

"They (St. Louis Club) haven't lost a game in two years, and we really gave them a good contest," Reichel said. "Our girls really played an excellent game."

Reichel added that goalie Judy Waterbury contributed with some outstanding plays at the net in the St. Louis Club matchup. Consequently, Waterbury tallied 15 saves while the St. Louis Club had only four saves.

Barb Stelk and Cheryl Holthaus scored one goal each to lead the Panthers against the St. Louis Club. However, Stelk injured her ankle in the final minutes of the game Saturday.

"The St. Louis Club game was a good game and I think we might have pulled it off if we would have had a few more minutes left in the match," Stelk said.

Stelk added that the number of injuries among the team this season has affected Eastern's performance.

Reichel said neither the Eastern nor Western teams played very well in that match-up. However, Leatherneck Diane Friedman's goal was good enough to win the game for Western Saturday.

Field hockey Notes... St. Louis University's Becky Gedney scored both goals against Eastern in Friday's game, while the Panthers managed 10 shots on goal to the Blikins 15. Eastern recorded nine goal saves to SLU's seven. The St. Louis Club team is not in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, so the OS did not count on Eastern's record. Eastern travels to Dayton, Ohio next Saturday to face the University of Dayton and Kent State.

However, no call was made and Gauvain sent it across to forward Bruce Bellinger. Bellinger passed to Loe Bourneuf, who had an open goal and took advantage of it to beat Panther goalie Eric Hartman to tie the score at 1-1.

"The guy was at least five yards offside," Hyndman said. "It wasn't even close. I had a feeling that coming into this game the officials were going to decide the outcome. I explained that to the guys and you can see what happened."

In the two overtime sessions both teams exchanged good scoring opportunities, but Southern had the best one when Cougar Tim Loughman headed a cross pass that went off Hartman's hands and bounced off the crossbar.

In Friday's match against Western, Hough scored midway through the first half to give the Panthers their 1-0 victory. The Panthers also outshot the Leathernecks 18-2 on their way to the tournament final.

Christensen rallies Panthers past Penguins

by John Humenik

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO—The frustration was starting to show on Jeff Christensen's face. And although the Eastern quarterback wasn't sure what to expect Saturday, he knew things had to get better.

Consequently, after Christensen completed just two of his first 10 passes, including one interception, against Youngstown State, his battle with disappointment seemed to be continuing.

And though Christensen would complete 12 of 26 passes for 161 yards Saturday night, his 11-yard game-winning touchdown pass to Jerry Wright late in the fourth quarter proved at least Christensen was alive and well.

In addition, Christensen's scoring strike proved to be the vital play his teammates needed as they rallied from a 23-20 fourth quarter deficit to defeat Youngstown State 27-23 in a game that saw the lead change hands five times.

"I'm really happy because we won, but I didn't think I threw the ball as well as I could have," Christensen said. "But when you have to do it, you can't look around for someone else."

"When we were down 23-20, the guys looked at me as if they were ahead," Christensen said about the huddle before his game-winning touchdown pass. "I wish that we didn't start out as slow as we did, but we came up with the big play."

Eastern, which raised its record to 4-0-1, realized early that it could not make the mistakes it did last week in a 10-10 Mid-Continent Conference tie with Northern Iowa and expect to beat Youngstown State.

In fact, the Panthers played exactly the opposite Saturday in stringing together drives which blended Christensen's passing game with the top-flight rushing of Kevin Staple, who collected 159 yards on 27 carries.

"Our offense really had a good night and our defense got better as the game went on," Eastern head coach Darrell Mudra said. "It's a real tribute to the players, because they have had to come back late in the game three times this season."

Youngstown State proved early it was not fooling around, as the Penguins' first drive accounted for nine plays. However, Eastern's Randy McCue registered his fourth interception this season to stop the Penguins' threat.

But the Penguins made good on their second drive as quarterback Griffen Keys scored from five yards out. Place kicker Paul McFadden added the extra point and Youngstown State led 7-0.

Eastern battled with disappointment early after ending two of its three first quarter possessions with punts. The other drive ended when Christensen missed on the fourth down moments before the second quarter.

However, the Panthers kept pace with the Penguins and knotted the contest via a six-yard touchdown run by halfback Wes Nixon with 7:59 remaining before the half.

Youngstown State eventually took a 14-10 lead into the locker room when Paris Wicks, who collected 112 yards on 27 carries Saturday, scored from one yard out with 3:46 remaining. Eastern added a 25-yard field goal by Dave Strauch to complete the first half scoring.

"We don't like to take that many high risks early," Eastern offensive coordinator Chuck Dickerson said. "In the first half we played conservative mainly because we were adjusting to the AstroTurf and

Eastern tight end Dirk Androff awaits a pass reception that lifted the Panthers past Northeast Missouri Sept. 18. (News photo by Suzanne Cummings)

Youngstown's defensive formations." Eastern rallied offensively in the second half behind Staples' 88-yard touchdown run to post the Panthers' first lead of the evening. Strauch added the point after and Eastern appeared to be in the driver's seat leading 17-14 with 12:23 left in the third stanza.

The Panthers wasted no time in lifting their margin to 20-14 as Strauch booted a 42-yard field after a penalty nullified a five-yard touchdown run by Staple with 7:20 on the clock.

However, Youngstown State (1-4) used McFadden's field goal from 47 yards out and a 59-yard pass reception from Keys to Jeff Patterson to regain its lead 23-20 with 5:45 remaining in the final quarter.

Momentum continued to be fickle again as Christensen led the Panthers in marching the ball to the Youngstown State 23-yard line. But moments later, Christensen fumbled the ball and the Penguins appeared to have preserved their lead.

But the Panthers were not to be deprived. On Eastern's next series, Christensen dumped off passes to Nixon and Wright for four and 12 yards, respectively, and Nixon broke loose for runs of 13 and 15 yards to set up what proved the game winner.

Christensen found Wright open in the endzone and completed a 11-yard pass reception which proved to be all the Panthers needed with 3:18 remaining in the contest.

Panther Notes... Christensen's 11-yard touchdown pass Saturday night established an Eastern record for most career touchdowns at 37. Former Panther Steve Turk had previously held that Panther mark.

Booters edge Cougars; capture Governor's Cup title

by Jim Woodcock

Daily Eastern News correspondent

EDWARDSVILLE—The soccer Panthers and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville met in the Governor's Cup championship Saturday, and what transpired between the two teams looked like a rerun of last year's finale at Lakeside Field.

Just as in 1981, the Panthers and Cougars fought through another foul-ridden, overtime match which ended deadlocked at 1-1.

However, Eastern proved to be superior at penalty kicks and outclassed Southern in the penalty kick competition 4-1 to successfully defend their Governor's Cup title.

The penalty kicks which followed the overtime periods are used only for deciding a tournament champion; the game will go on record as a tie. That, coupled with Friday night's 1-0 decision over Western Illinois, brings the Panther's record to 5-2-3.

Eastern head coach Schellas Hyndman said his squad never played better this season than they did against the eighth-ranked Cougars.

"We took it to them," Hyndman said. "And it's great for us to come to a place like this on the road and come away with a tie."

Eastern was edged by the Cougars on shots-on-goal by an 11-8 margin, while the Panthers enjoyed an 8-3 corner kick advantage. And as always, the two rivals played wrecklessly.

Both teams collected 28 fouls, as Southern won the yellow card competition 5-4. In addition, each team had a player thrown out of the game, but the Eastern ejection changed the complexion of the game.

In the early going the Panthers had all the momentum, forcing Cougar tri-captain Mike Twellman to notch the first yellow card warning of the evening.

But only 14 seconds later, Southern forward Bill Stallings was found knocked to the ground in the Eastern zone, with Panther defender Randy DeRousse standing close by.

The scene resulted in an immediate red card and ejection for DeRousse. Hyndman and DeRousse objected immediately to the officials, but to no avail. "The referee said I punched him on purpose, but there was no way," DeRousse said.

Regardless, it meant that the Panthers were looking at playing with only 10 players for the balance of the game and there was 77:47 on the clock ahead of them.

"It really hurt because we were dominating early and when we lose a player it really knocks us off our game plan," Hyndman said. "So we had to drop a forward back to midfield and just make sure we stayed in the game."

Not only did the Panthers stay in the game, they managed to draw first blood. Midfielder Agyeman Prempeh took control of the ball near midfield and after a couple of swift moves, scorched a line drive which Cougar netminder Ed Gettemeier failed to haul down.

The Panthers' goal, which came only 3:12 after DeRousse's ejection, gave Eastern a 1-0 advantage, which it took into halftime.

The second half was full of the same action as in the first half, until the play which resulted in the Cougar's controversial goal.

Cougar reserve Mike Gauvain was standing by the sideline when he received a clearing pass from the Southern backfield. The Cougar fans groaned when it appeared obvious that the wide-open Gauvain was
